

2017-07-28

Eva Regina Magacs, Michael Negele - Paul Felix Schmidt 'A Winning Formula'

Günter Büsing
Michael Negele

After the welcome and introduction by chairman Bob van de Velde, Michael Negele took the rostrum for a presentation of his new book on Paul Felix Schmidt 'A Winning Formula' and its genesis. When the Schmidt project was first presented to us at the KWA meeting in October 2015 in Kiel, it was planned as a cooperation by Michael and Tony Gillam. However, disagreements between them sadly caused this plan to fail, and instead two books have appeared – a games collection with a brief biography by Tony and a thorough biography, with 12 selected games, co-written by Michael and Eva Regina Magacs, daughter of Paul Felix Schmidt.

Günter Büsing

Part of the audience: Per Skjoldager, Michael Clapham, Bob van de Velde, Godehard Murkisch, Bert Corneth, Jurgen Stigter, Matthias Limberg and Wolfgang Pächtz

Michael explained how it came about that the book is partly in English and partly in German – and modestly stated that he actually likes the English translation by Regina Magacs better than his original German contribution ...

But when the book was later distributed to those present, we could convince ourselves that both were of high quality, as indeed the book is very successful both in content and get-up. A promising start for Michael's publishing activity Edition Randstein.

Claes Lofgren

Michael Negele
Quite a pile

Dust Jacket

- PFGS_DustJacket_170419_klein.pdf \(2.7 MiB\)
- PFS_Project_KWA_website.pdf \(907.1 KiB\)
- pfs_summary_english.pdf \(1.1 MiB\)

See also:

New Literature by Tony Gilliam

Paul Schmidt biography

http://www.chesshistory.com/winter/#10517_Paul_Schmidt_1916-84